Newsletter / Autumn Term 2015

The Learning & Development Resource Centre is now up and running back at Thompson House, along with our Newport based training rooms, which have been totally refurbished to make learning a comfortable and enjoyable experience. Already the feedback from our LRC visitors and training participants has been extremely positive.

The LRC has a large work table, allowing visitors to relax while planning, studying or choosing resources. This facility is available for subscribing early years and school staff; and adult and childrens social care workers. Tea, coffee and free Wi-Fi are available if you bring your laptop.

The new Autumn Term Learning & Development Training Programme is in all schools; courses featured in this programme can also be viewed online at: www.iwight.com/trainingcourses

This year as part of your SLA with the Isle of Wight Council's Learning and Development Service, we have bought into the Hants CC HIAS Curriculum Resource Maths, RE and History Centres. This will enable your school to purchase HIAS publications and resources at the subscribers rate, saving you up to 75% of the cost. I will be placing an order once a term. Please look out for my reminder emails that have the catalogue links and our order forms.

The deadline for orders to be submitted this term is 6 October 2015. Please contact 823346 or helen.hiscock@iow.gov.uk with any queries regarding orders for HIAS publications and resources.

Resource Centre Induction Sessions

Late afternoon sessions to refresh or induct staff, especially new staff, are available to book for subscribing schools and early years settings. These sessions aim to help with future lesson planning and to give inspiration. A separate room will be available with refreshments to enable you to incorporate a staff meeting if you would like to combine the two.

Contact 823346 or helen.hiscock@iow.gov.uk to book your session now!

Let's Focus on the Early Years Project

Following the success of the Early Years Boys Writing Project last year we have invited some schools and settings to be part of our project this year, 'It's not what you do, it's the way that you do it!' – The Role of the Adult in an Enabling Environment.

The project is open to YR teachers and Early Years practitioners who will be attending a range of core training events by nationally acclaimed trainers. Books to support this project are available to loan from the Resource Centre.

Those schools and settings that are subscribed to the Learning and Development training programme can also access these core training sessions in the usual way. Also remember to sign up to an event during Early Years week to look at the exciting interactive environment.

It's not what you do, it's the way that you do it!
